Facial beautification consists of various cosmetic procedures that we utilize to look better, younger, and correct imperfections, to be able to look in the mirror and feel better about ourselves and increase our self-esteem. Among the most popular surgeries we have the blepharoplasty (eye lid surgery), eye brow lift, nose corrective surgery also known as rhinoplasty, as well as the reduction of chubby cheeks, placement of chin and cheek implants to achieve a better symmetry that harmonizes the face making it look more balanced. Men and women equally get these type of surgeries obtaining results that most of the times exceed their expectations.

Clinica Medica General: For The Best Results

Eye lid Surgery

The eye lid surgery is one of the most requested and effective surgeries in facial rejuvenation. Its main purpose is to correct droopy eyelids and remove bags under the eyes that give you a tired appearance and make you look older. You will not only improve your physical appearance but also your self-esteem. The team of surgeons at Clinica Medica General perform this procedure without hospitalization and with fast return to your daily activities and your job.

Why do eyes look tired?

Unfortunately, as the years go by the skin loses its tone, firmness and the force of gravity that is constantly pulling down makes the skin of both the top and bottom eyelids sag as well as accumulating fat in the top and bottom eyelids. This fat pulls the skin down and you acquire those ugly bags that make us look sad, depressed or anguished making us look much older than we should.

Rhinoplasty: Nose Surgery

The nose surgery or rhinoplasty is a procedure that does not require hospitalization and its purpose is to correct breathing problems, deviation of the septum as well as improving the esthetical appearance of the face. The plastic surgeon can also reduce the size, change the shape, angle, or make the nose look thinner. If you are in good health and have already passed the puberty stage of growth, you are a good candidate for this procedure.

Chin and Cheek Implants

The deficiency of bone structure in the cheeks and the gravitational effect as well as the years make the face look haggard and can make you look older than you really are, while high cheeks give a younger and healthier appearance. The cheeks are comprised of fat tissue which diminishes as the years go by. A solution that corrects this defect are the cheek implants.

Also, a small chin will take away symmetry from your face and the beauty that we all search for, that is why the chin implant is one of the most commonly used procedures, alone, or in conjunction with the rhinoplasty. (See photo). At Clinica Medica General, the plastic surgery team will help you determine the best size for your facial structure to improve the symmetry and beauty.

Facial Thinning

Some people with overly pronounced cheeks can feel uncomfortable with their physical appearance if their cheeks are too hefty, have excess of fat or look "chubby". You can have a more defined and sophisticated face through a mini liposuction and surgery. The incisions are very small and in general, they heal rapidly.

It is important to note that most often people with prominent cheeks, may also can take advantage of the procedure by reshaping their nose and chin to improve their facial appearance as a whole, especially after diminishing chubby cheeks; this is why it is important to have a pre-op planning session with the plastic surgery team to determine if you will need additional procedures to balance and maximize the esthetical improvement of your face.

Facelift

The stretching of the skin in the face, also known as a facelift is done by lifting the skin of the face and neck (neck lift), eyebrows (brow lift) and forehead giving a fresher and more youthful appearance to the person. The procedure does not require hospitalization.
